

If You Could Give Any Gift in the World, What Would You Give and to Whom?

By Jennifer Liu

Age 8

If I could give any gift in the world, I would give my mom a bouquet of golden flowers and a bunch of hugs to thank her for giving me millions of things, for the tears she shed to save me, and for taking good care of me.

When I just came into this world, I was the center of my mom's life. She fed me, took good care of me, and taught me how to talk, walk and do just about everything I know how to do.

When I'm sick, mom is very worried and takes good care of me. She takes me to the doctor, feeds me medicine, and buys me my favorite foods and toys. If I keep a high fever for a few days, she cannot sleep or eat; she cries and feels very anxious. When I am better, she is very happy.

When I need help, she always lends me a helping hand. I'm very curious, so she reads me a book every day to teach me new things. She always buys and borrows a lot of books for me when I can read by myself. She patiently answers every question I have. She helps me do homework and finds tutors to teach me piano and ice skating. She also brings me to swimming classes. I'm very thankful to have such a wonderful mom.

If I could give any gift in the world, I would give all of it to my mom!