

Alien Invasion

By Alex Feng

Age 10

I stared at the alien spaceship. It was a gray disk with glowing green lights. There was a green beam of light that was busy abducting cars and trees. Quickly, I dialed 911. The phone was dead. "Even if the phone were working, would they believe me anyway?" I thought to myself. Everyone was on vacation, and my parents were out shopping. I was carrying home some hair dryers my mother had bought. The spaceship came closer to me. I felt myself rising. I couldn't run. I was lifted into the spaceship, and surrounded by aliens. The aliens looked like gray blobs with three eyes, seven arms, one leg, and nine noses. Their leader, Zander, said, "We are the Argonians. We come in peace. We are here to protect you from the Fargonons." The Argonians took me with them to the Fargonons' base, Fargon. The Fargonons were afraid of heat. I still had Mom's battery-powered hair dryers, so we used those. The Argonians were afraid of ice, so the Fargonons were prepared with icicle guns. Zander and I hid near the room of their leader, Fartox. We set our hair dryers on max and burst through the door. We shot Fartox, but Zander got hit by an icicle and was wounded. Without a leader, the Fargonons died out quickly. I took Zander back to his ship. Next I went to an escape pod in the ship and set the controls for home. I guess I got bored on the way home, because I fell asleep. I woke up in my room and thought the whole adventure was a dream. Then I looked out of my window and saw the huge escape pod on my front lawn. I wonder how I'm going to explain that to anybody.
