

What If Everyone Lived in Space?

By Sean Cai

If everyone lived in space, life would be fun. I would live on the moon with my friends and family. The houses would be made of rocks and lit by stars and painted in red and brown. There is no gravity on the moon so everyone would bounce around instead of walking.

Clothing and food would be different on the moon. A pair of jeans would cost 10 cents. You could wear cool t-shirts and jeans to a fancy restaurant and no one would care. There would be a lot of different types of food to choose from. There would be no vegetables.

Living on the moon would be fun. The best part would be jumping around instead of walking and running. Playing tag on the moon would be 10 times better than playing it on Earth. Everyone would bump into each other!
